THE MCDAVID GROUP CHARITIES IS PROUD TO HOST THE 5TH ANNUAL GOLF FOR COPS CELEBRITY PRO-AM

In the Summer of 2016, five police officers were brutally executed in Dallas, Texas. As I sat in my truck listening to the radio commentary, it hit me like a ton of bricks. In that moment, I made the decision to throw my time and resources behind our men and women in blue. Through in-depth research, I discovered that there were very few charities that support law enforcement families, and the money raised was very small in comparison to other notable charities.

Everyday, our law enforcement officers wake up, say goodbye to their families, and head to work uncertain as to whether or not they will return home. They put everything on the line each time they clock in. Today, the risk is higher than ever. Yet, without complaining, these brave men and women put on a badge and protect our way of life. They are more than just police officers; they are husbands and wives, fathers and mothers, sons and daughters, family and friends. When an officer loses their life, the effect on their family is catastrophic. There is emotional devastation to the family, not to mention the massive financial burden.

In its first four years, Golf for C.O.P.S. has generated over $1,100,000. Every dollar raised, outside the hard costs of the tournament, goes directly to the families of the fallen. We have no salaried associates at McDavid Group Charities. Everyone helps on a volunteer basis. Our PGA Tour Players and Sports Celebrities choose to participate due to their support of the cause. Everyone that participates does so out of their passion for law enforcement. This is a charity that everyone can sink their teeth into.

Please join me in this powerful cause and let the families of our fallen officers know that they are not alone, that their sacrifice will not be forgotten, and that they will not be forgotten. Golf for C.O.P.S. is currently supported by major donors such as Stitch, FootJoy, Wyndham Grand Hotels, Trump National Jupiter, and Tequesta Country Club to name a few. The stories are heart wrenching; this is our opportunity to give back and recognize the families left behind.

WHERE YOUR MONEY GOES

Concerns of Police Survivors (C.O.P.S.) is a National Organization that provides resources of all kinds to help survivors of police officers killed in the line-of-duty rebuild their shattered lives.

HANDS-ON PROGRAMS

C.O.P.S. Hands-On Programs are the heart of the organization. From offering grief counseling to providing peer support and additional resources, C.O.P.S.' objective is to support each survivor in their journey to recovery. In the wake of a line-of-duty death, there is an inherent need for a safe place to grieve and to process the feelings and memories surrounding that loved one. With twelve Hands-On Programs, C.O.P.S. provides retreats specifically formatted to allow survivors to do just that.

Through their National Board, local chapters and national network of survivors, C.O.P.S. is able to contact a newly bereaved family - sometimes within just days of the death. It helps the new survivors to see people who have survived the devastation, thus providing a sense of hope. The C.O.P.S. National Office contacts each surviving family at least 5 times a year. Tri-annual newsletters provide messages of hope, encouragement and share stories of the survivors' accomplishments since the death of the officer.

PEER SUPPORT

BENEFITS ASSISTANCE

C.O.P.S. maintains a state-by-state compilation of death benefits so survivors and agencies will know what benefits are afforded to surviving families when an officer dies in the line of duty. These documents have become invaluable to state law enforcement organizations that are seeking information on the benefits paid to survivors. Benefits include education benefits, state benefits, worker's compensation, pension, funeral benefits and miscellaneous organizations that assist.

"When Wes was killed 11 years ago, I was lost and full of uncertainty. Because of programs like Spouses Retreat, Kids Camp and the Kids/Teens Program at National Police Week, my daughters and I have been given tools that have allowed us to grow and heal on our grief journey. We are incredibly grateful for the donors that continue to choose C.O.P.S.! Because of them these programs exist and I don't know where we would be without them."
